

Inselhaus Newsletter Fall of 2010

Dear Guests,

I hope you all had a wonderful summer and are excited for the cool weather approaching as well as the yearly harvest.

Karl is out in the fields now - as he has been all spring and summer. The first week of harvest is always hectic; I just hope everything works well on the farm. I know it will but I still get apprehensive and worry about him getting hurt. Every day that he and the farm help are in the fields I bring them a hot lunch, much like German farmers enjoy back home. Each meal is different so they do not know what to expect from day to day!

This reminds me to let you know we do private dining and will host parties at the Inselhaus. As the holidays approach, remember us - we will cook, serve and clean up for you. Now that is my kind of party!

Be sure to check out limited-time discounts on www.radarfrog.com and make your reservation soon. Do not hesitate to call or email us to see if a room is available. We do what we can to take care of our guests!

When friends and family come to visit, treat them to a night with us at Inselhaus. In the morning, join them for a delicious three course breakfast. We are currently working on new recipes that we are certain our guests will enjoy, such as our quiche and a variety of delicious baked goods to please anyone. And please let us know about your dietary needs, from vegan and vegetarian to gluten-free and diabetics. All guests are welcome!

We now have new pictures of the Inselhaus and the new employees on our website that were taken by guest and friend Anna Wagner of Vienna, Austria. She first came in 2006 and has returned each year since for several weeks at a time. Like many guests, the Inselhaus has become a second home for her.

You may have noticed that faces have changed at Inselhaus but we are better than ever. Jillian has been with us since May while Sarah joined our team in August of this year. The girls are efficient and reliable - and some of the best bakers and bed makers we have had at Inselhaus!

It is time to greet my guests for the evening so I must be going. As always, we look forward to seeing you soon, friends and have a safe and pleasant fall.

Karl and Dorothee
