

November 2009

Dear Guest and Visitors,

Christmas is just upon us and we, at the Inselhaus B&B will start decorating the house for the holiday season. You may check back here in a few weeks to see our B&B in full Christmas decor.

Many of our guests asked why we do not have rules displayed in our rooms. My answer is always that our guests do not need rules. Yes, Inselhaus is a no smoking facility. That is a state law. You do not want to read that in your room or on our website. So far, we have had no problems with anyone who broke this state regulation. Our balcony and porch are very inviting for guests who smoke. We do not ask our guests to observe a quiet time after 10p.m. Our guest understand. If you are downstairs in the parlor after 8p.m., someone will join you. It is very cozy and comfortable in front of the fireplace, eating Inselhaus treats.

If you have students at WIU or have family and friends in town who have not seen the rooms, you are welcome to invite them to see your room on the second floor. We love to show off the B&B and the amenities we offer.

We love children! The Inselhaus has accommodated many young guests at no extra charge. When you bring your child, consider booking one of the bigger rooms. That makes it more comfortable for all of you and it will be easier for us to set up a portable crib or lay out a mattress for your child.

When you make a reservation, we send a confirmation email to let you know how to proceed on the day of arrival. Please, call my cell phone number when you get closer to Macomb, so that we can be at the Inselhaus to welcome you. Of course, if you come often, we provide a key to use at the B&B next time you visit.

Do you know that we have not raised our room rates since 2006?

Thank you very much for all of the reviews you sent to www.bedandbreakfast.com. It is always a joy for Janelle, Jen, and Dorothee to get an email from bedandbreakfast.com, that tells us there is another great review posted. If you liked staying at the Inselhaus B&B tell everyone. If you did not, tell Dorothee. Only then can we change our service at Inselhaus B&B.

Have a wonderful autumn. We hope to see you back here at the Inselhaus B&B soon.
